HISTORY

Piedras de San Pedro is the reference of the winery. It is born from the vineyards of our best estate, in Valderramiro, an exceptional area of old vineyards, with very low but unmatched productions for winemaking. It collects all the inheritance and know-how received from our ancestors, parents and grandparents who made wine history in these lands.

THE HARVEST

2018 was a perfect vintage for winemaking, classified by the Regulatory Council as "very good" and characterized by a vegetative cycle without major surprises. Several months of cold and fog in the winter gave way to a rainy spring and a very dry and hot summer, with little rainfall that made ripening in the old vineyard ideal.

WINEMAKING

Old vineyards, over 80 years old, above 870 m. altitude, with low yields, barely 20 hl / ha. Manual harvest. Maceration in small tanks with manual punching.

Fermentation with its own and malolactic yeasts in French oak barrels. The 16-month aging is also carried out in new French extra-fine grain barrels with special toasting, with Racking every six months without clarifying or filtering. Aged in bottle for another 12 months before release into the market.

TASTING NOTES

Cherry color well covered with garnet notes. Complex and elegant as well as powerful, with aromas of jam, balsamic and chocolate. Extraordinary woodwork with perfect tannin, sweet, tasty and balanced, with a lot of concentration and meatiness. Long, elegant, with a unique Ribera identity.
